DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-15, 17-24, 27, 29-46, and 58-64 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of the invention of group I, claims 1-15, 17-24, 27, 37-40, and 42-46, in the reply filed on April 30, 2009 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that Group I-IV are having the same inventive concept. This is not found persuasive because as discussed in the restriction requirements, According to 37 CFR 1.475 (c) and 1.475 (d), when there are more than two sets of combinations of inventions present in the case, the first set of combination would be considered as the main invention. In the instant case, the first set of combination of method of preparing, compounds, and the method of use is considered as the main invention. The other inventions are therefore considered as distinct and separate inventions from the first invention. Furthermore, the other inventions are directed to various methods having different distinct functions and purposes.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claims 29-36, 41, and 58-64 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on April 30, 2009.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-15, 17-24, 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for Stx producing E. Coli, does not reasonably provide enablement for other Stx-producing organisms. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. In the instant case, the specification fails to provide information that would allow the skilled artisan to practice the instant invention without undue experimentation. Attention is directed to In re Wands, 8 USPQ2d 1400 (CAFC 1988) at 1404 where the court set forth the eight factors to consider when assessing if a disclosure would have required undue experimentation. Citing Ex parte Forman, 230 USPQ 546 (BdApl's 1986) at 547 the court recited eight factors:

- 1) the quantity of experimentation necessary,
- 2) the amount of direction or guidance provided,
- 3) the presence of absence of working examples,
- 4) the nature of the invention,
- 5) the state of the prior art,
- 6) the relative skill of those in the art
- 7) the predictability of the art, and
- 8) the breadth of the claims.

Applicant fails to set forth the criteria that define a "Stx producing organism". Additionally, Applicant fails to provide information allowing the skilled artisan to test these bacteria without undue experimentation. In the instant case, only a limited number of "Stx producing organism" examples are set forth, thereby failing to provide sufficient working examples. It is noted that these examples are neither exhaustive, nor define the class of compounds required. The pharmaceutical art is generally unpredictable, requiring each embodiment to be individually assessed for physiological activity. The instant claims read on all "Stx producing organism(s)", necessitating an exhaustive search for the embodiments suitable to practice the claimed invention. Applicants fail to provide information sufficient to practice the claimed invention, absent undue experimentation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 42 and 45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Tagashira et al., from IDS filed March 3, 2005.

Tagashira et al. teaches hop bract polyphenols that are having catechins in the fraction and a transducer in the HPLC (See page 334). Such "combination" of HPLC and the hop bract extract meets the limitation of claims 42 and 45.

Claims 37-40 are in condition of allowance.

Claims 43, 44, and 46 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
